

PRAISE FOR HENDRIX AND THE LIBERAL ARTS

“We know that the students graduating from Hendrix are of a high caliber and that the professors and staff are doing a wonderful job. We would love to see more of their students in our interview process.”

- EPIC SYSTEMS CORPORATION

“[The financial services] industry is all about coming up with creative ideas before the competition. At Hendrix, you’re surrounded by smart people who push your thought processes and push your creativity. That experience has been invaluable.”

- KENNY GUNDERMAN (CLASS OF '93)
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT AND
CO-HEAD OF INVESTMENT BANKING,
STEPHENS INC.

“No matter how much it may not feel like it when you’re reading Plato, a liberal arts education is preparation for the real world. Being able to understand unfamiliar subjects quickly, assert yourself effectively, and write well are important – not just for careers or graduate school, but for successful living. A liberal arts education can help nurture those skills.”

- ANDREW MCCORMICK, JD, LL.M (CLASS OF '07)
ASSOCIATE, LATHAM & WATKINS
LONDON OFFICE

“Hendrix has an incredible ability to provide for its students whatever it is they need to expand and grow, and isn’t that what education is about?”

- COLLEGES THAT CHANGE LIVES

Information for Employers

HENDRIX

COLLEGE

Hendrix College students stand out when competing for employment opportunities or acceptance by top professional and graduate schools. Why? They are equipped with real-world experience and are proficient in the skills that matter most for success in any area of endeavor.

WHY HIRE FROM HENDRIX?

Are you looking for today's doers and tomorrow's leaders? Hendrix is the right place to look.

Armed with a Hendrix degree, a wide-ranging skill set, and an impressive portfolio of academic achievements and active learning experiences, Hendrix students are promising candidates for any career opportunity.

- They are fluent communicators, strong writers, critical thinkers, and innovative problem solvers.
- They are life-long learners who are adaptable, flexible, and can make creative connections between different areas of knowledge, thanks to their broad-based liberal arts foundation.
- They possess confidence, maturity, and initiative – attributes that flourish naturally in Hendrix's challenging yet supportive learning community.
- They are responsible, ethical, compassionate, and globally aware.

THE ODYSSEY ADVANTAGE

Hendrix's nationally recognized Odyssey Program guarantees students' participation in at least three different active learning experiences chosen from six categories: professional and leadership development, service to the world, global awareness, undergraduate research, artistic creativity, and special projects.

These series of hands-on and often self-designed learning opportunities contribute to the strength of the overall educational experience and demonstrate how Hendrix's students extend their education and apply their knowledge in important and meaningful ways outside of the classroom – through independent research, leadership, community service, internships, immersion in other cultures, creative projects, and other action-based endeavors.

DEVELOPING WHOLE PERSONS THROUGH THE LIBERAL ARTS

In addition to guaranteeing experience, Hendrix's unique learning environment assures all students the opportunities to study broadly in a variety of areas of knowledge; to develop expertise in a field of concentration; to cultivate skills of oral and written communication, deliberation, and analysis; to gain appreciation for the cultural traditions of the world; and to establish character and a concern for worthy values. The result? Well-rounded students who are prepared to pursue meaningful, enriching, and contributive personal and professional lives.
